'Awesome year' for Elk Point Minor Hockey

VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

The end of what Elk Point Minor Hockey president Jason Pankiw called "an awesome year" was celebrated

Thursday night at the Elk Point Arts and Leisure Centre with the largest minor hockey banquet in recent history. Pankiw praised the teams for their dedication, energy and passion and told them, "Elk Point is super proud of you."

The coaching staff of each team came forward to introduce their players and to give a brief report on the season. For the Micro Novice Avalanche, that staff included Jeff Morgan, Shane Fontaine Willie Lesyk, Tyson Ballas and manager Tara Cameron. Morgan said the team started off the year with 14 players of varying skill levels, who worked hard to learn what hockey was all about to the point that, three quarters of the way through the season, they were able to tie a game. Willie Lesyk introduced the players and said he feels they are part of "a great future for Elk Point Minor Hockey."

Conrad Pierce introduced the Novice Avalanche and assistant coaches Robyn Hoeving, Tim Smereka and Megan Tucker, manager Kara Hoeving and helpers Jacques DeMoissac and Willie Lesyk. He noted a "vast improvement in 10 of our 17 players," and said he had "a lot of fun" working with them.

Robyn Moroziuk coached the Atom One team, with the help of Travis Hymanyk, Jon Kadutski and manager Melissa Rogal, and said it was "a great year. We had a very small team but everyone was very committed. We played in the Tier Two south league and ended up third in the league. We lost to Provost in the playoffs and to Marwayne in Provincials. It was a close series and the kids played their hearts out."

Atom Two coach James Capjack introduced assistants James Penner, Shane Fontaine and manager Tanya Fontaine and their 10 players, who, he said, "have a lot of heart and are really dedicated." In the North League, they won all 15 games and the division title, but lost the banner to Marwayne, a Tier Two team, even though "they played their hardest."

Library Board, Friends hold 2016 annual meetings

VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Elk Point Municipal Library Board continued to focus on its vision and mission statement, to provide a "People-centered environment to meet community needs," Board chair Laverne Wilson said at last week's annual general meeting. "Checking our Plan of Service for 2013-2018, we are meeting our 'what to do' and 'by whom' at the half way point of the plan," he added.

The board relies on the yearly patrons' survey results to assist with further operations, and Wilson noted that the public's input is "vitally important to the board in making decisions with the patrons' interests in mind." He said the board continues to work cooperatively and positively to keep library operations financially sound while at the same time, ensuring it is meeting its objectives.

Wilson gave special thanks to library manager Daphne Schnurer for the "great deal of work" involved with changing accounting firms, and said, "It's a whole new ball game."

However useful that patron survey has been, the requirement to conduct it has now been discontinued, Schnurer said in her report. However, "I think it's important to keep it, but not necessarily every year."

The downturn in the economy has brought "a year of change for the library. Although it affected our patron numbers, we could see a change in our customer base, with more patrons in the door and more Internet hours. There's a lot of people in here every day," Schnurer added.

Two laptop computers were added to the library's lineup and one of the public computers was replaced, with staff shifting their focus to assisting customers with online courses, resumes and job searching. "I believe our emphasis on customer service was predominately responsible for our statistics remaining constant."

The library continues to create and develop partnerships with the community, and has developed very popular regular programming that continues to grow, especially the monthly library tea.

Hockey windup

Jena Colbourne and husband Chad represented the coaches of the Peewee Girls Storm, which also has Glenn Hladunovich, Art Parr and manager Lori Poitras on the roster. "It was a lot of fun and my first time coaching. We won one game and tied two, and the rest are history," she said, adding that the players "all came very far – and wait until we're a bantam team!"

The Peewee Avalanche were introduced by Tyson Stafford, who shared coaching duties with Marty Bendixen, Tyler Warawa and manager Candace Bendixen. He reported a very successful year, with a 17-0-1 record in league play for first place for the season and a 6-0 record in playdowns for the league title, followed by five wins, no losses and one tie to become Zone 2 champions. "We went to provincials in Boyle and ran into trouble. We had one win and two losses, but we definitely had fun. These kids will have many more opportunities to play at provincials in the future. Their hard work paid off, these kids are winners."

The Bantam Avalanche was coached by Greg Van Maarion, Dean Rogal and Christoph Ludlage, with Melinda Henderson as manager. "We had a short bench but strong players," Van Maarion said, noting that many games were played shorthanded, but that did not deter these determined youths from winning the zone championship and placing second in their league, a title he is determined, "We'll get that next year." The players "supported each other and just played hockey." Henderson thanked the coaches, who, she said, "thought they were just coming for one practice, but were there for the season." She said this season was "the most fun and the easiest season since my kids started hockey." The team surprised everyone by winning a tournament in Wetaskiwin over larger teams from much larger communities, they won the league, "and in my eyes, they are the winners."

Dwayne Odgaard coached the Midget Avalanche with the help of Rodney Graus, Quentin Hunter and manager Twila Stafford, and said that this is the first time in 11 years that Elk Point has had a midget team and the first time in 15 years that Elk Point Midgets have gone to Provincials. Nine of his players were first year midgets, but "every game was close, and a number of times we won in the last few minutes." At the end of the year, "there was only four goals difference between four teams in the league." They entered the first game of provincial playoffs after having no success against Smoky Lake. "You could feel the tension and the Smoky Lake arena was packed. We were down four at the beginning of the third period, but we pulled off a tie, then won our home game 5-2." In the next round, the Avs took on a Tier One team from Lamont and tied the first game 6-6, losing the second 5-2, Odgaard said. "But we were in a wild card spot and went to Provost," earning the $8,800 to go with a bottle drive, raffles and a slave auction. "We got our butts kicked, but the two teams we lost to played in the finals. We tied the third, and we had the experience of a lifetime. I'm proud of this group." He gave special thanks to Brian Plunkie, who took photos of the team throughout the season and gave them to the boys, and to the senior Elks hockey club, who scrimmaged with the boys and gave them lots of encouragement. With some of the third year players leaving the team after this season, Odgaard told the first year players, "the torch is now passed to you."

Minor hockey vice president Tyler Warawa had praise for concession coordinator Jackie Ludlage and the hockey parents who worked in the booth, earning $45,000 in profit, which goes to lower player fees, and for Ryan Hahn, who worked with the goalies, bingo coordinator Kara Hoewing, equipment managers Lori Poitras and Twila Stafford. President Jason Pankiw added thanks to registrar Tessa Pankiw, the coaches, and his fellow members of the minor hockey executive, secretary Angie Canning, treasurer Gwen Pierce and Warawa.

Pankiw then announced a new award "for the heart and soul of Elk Point Minor Hockey, the Most Dedicated Fan, Doug Bassett."

"I really like to write," Bassett said after accepting the award. "Hockey is my religion, and the arena is my church." He even had a news flash for the crowd, announcing that Mark Letestu would be visiting the arena on Tuesday. He said Pankiw as done a great job as this year's president, and Warawa, who took over ice scheduling, has also done a great job. Arena Operating Committee secretary Margaret Bayduza and treasurer Lisa Van Maarion also received Bassett's praise for their efforts, along with Jackie Ludlage, Scott Dallaire, Brian Poitras, the coaches, managers and players.

Awards were then presented to the most improved, most sportsmanlike and most valuable players on each team. Recipients were: Atom One: Most Improved – Wyatt Pavoll, Most Sportsmanlike – Vaughn Ockerman, MVP Vanden Moroziuk; Atom Two: Most Improved – Landon Malachowski, Most Sportsmanlike – Ryan Cameron, MVP – Jager Fontaine; Peewee Strom: Most Improved – Chloe Bendixen, Most Sportsmanlike – Avery Warawa, MVP – Heaven Colbourne.; Peewee Avalanche: Most Improved – Matthew Quinney, Most Sportsmanlike – Jadey Capjack, MVP – Lian Ludlage. The Alex Kurash Memorial Award went to Kobe Warawa: Bantam: Most Improved – Wolke Cueva Most Sportsmanlike – Chase Dorey, MVP – Nicholas Anderson; Midget: Most Improved – Christian Castle-Wassen, Most Sportsmanlike – Warren Plunkie, MVP – the entire team.

The enhanced summer program was received enthusiastically by children and parents and was supported by a generous donation from Enbridge, Schnurer noted. She has sent Enbridge an invitation to support the program again this year, and will also approach Northern Lights Library System for sponsorship, she added.

"I cannot say enough about our generous Friends of the Library, who have been volunteering for 25 years. They have kept our doors open, supported successful programs, are responsible for a collection we can be proud of and promote the library in our community."

The Friends are led by Sherry Milholland, who reported that her group has one more bingo left to run from the current schedule of six, and are looking forward to more in the coming year, as well as a casino in September. With the proceeds from the fundraisers and from a $7,500 grant from the town's Municipal Sustainability Initiatives funding, the Friends have been able to pay for painting the interior of the library, add additional shelving and increase the collections of children's books and large print.

The Friends are now offering immediate help to the library to finance the urgent need for roof repairs to prevent water damage to the structure, and agreed unanimously to have that work done as quickly as possible, along with repairs made necessary by leaks that have already occurred.

Both the Friends of the Library and the Library Board voted unanimously to return the current executives to office for another year.

EDITORIAL

A hockey town, and proud of it

There's no question, Elk Point is definitely a hockey town.

A few years ago, we were one of the towns competing to be Kraft Hockeyville, and we didn't get to the finals. However, after being part of the huge crowd at the Arts and Leisure Centre on Thursday night to celebrate what may have been Elk Point's best hockey year ever, there are those of us who think that day could definitely come.

Hockey has been a part of our community ever since the earliest days when the ice was a slough east of town and the nets were wood frames covered with chicken wire. The first outdoor rink was built in the mid-1920s about where Subway is now located, and the community has never looked back since.

Elk Point hockey has been in the news that long as well, with newspaper excerpts from February 1926, November 1926 and December 1932 included in Elk Point Reflections section on 'Early Hockey,' which also listed Steve Andrishak, the late Sid Holhe and the late K. C. Miller as being among the "hockey hot-shots" of their day.

The Elk Point Review has covered 32 years of hockey now, and it is interesting to see in the news from 30 years ago this week that two of today's minor hockey coaches, James Capjack and Greg Van Maarion, were part of the Co-op Pee wee team that went to Provost for Provincials. Their coach, George Anderson, is the proud grandpa of this year's Bantam Avalanche Most Valuable Player, Nicholas Anderson.

Hockey is obviously a skill and a part of life that is passed down from generation to generation.

This hockey town is also very proud to have one of our former minor hockey players, Mark Letestu, scoring goals for the Oilers. We hear, via our award-winning sports reporter and Elk Point Minor Hockey's Most Dedicated Fan award winner, Doug Bassett, that Mark will be coming home to visit this week, and his hometown fans are getting more excited by the minute.

The Alex Kurash Memorial Trophy that Kobe Warawa accepted Thursday honours a dedicated minor hockey coach from the past, and the hockey season ends this week with a men's tournament honouring the memory of a more recent minor hockey coach, Jim Vinge. They and all their fellow coaches, past and present, helped to build a legacy to be very proud of.

YOUR VIEWS

Great job, Elk Point Dinner Theatre!

Dear Editor,

I would like to say thank you to the member of the Elk Point Community Choir for sharing their talents with the public. Your performance at the dinner theatre that I saw earlier this month was to be commended.

You did an excellent job with your harmonious singing, unison dancing, and great acting. Even if a person would not care for the play itself, you guys were awesome. All the work that was put into the different stage background was unbelievable – the results of a lot of hours of devoted labour, no doubt.

To all the volunteers and the cooks, you did a great job.

Keep up the great work! I'm looking forward to the next performance.

WAY BACK WHEN...

Bicentennial funding, Bull Chutin' and bonspieling

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF MARCH 29 IN...

1986

Elk Point Co-op Pee wees James Capjack, Norbert Bernard, Matt Higgins, Curtis Porcina, Lindsay Jenner, Kevin Bates, Jim Onusko, Brad Yakemchuk, Darcy McLaughlin, David Meger, Robin Yakemchuk, Kim Hawryluk, Chris Cameron, Todd Anderson and Greg Van Maarion and coach George Anderson were off to Pee wee 'C' hockey provincials in Provost. Teams from St. Paul and Bonnyville won the 'A' and 'B' sides of the Elk Point Atoms hockey tournament, with the host team placing second in the 'A'.

1991

Town council was pleased to hear that Elk Point had been chosen as Northern Lights Library System headquarters and that BIAC funding had been approved for the 1992 Bicentennial celebrations for Fort George and Buckingham House. Local lakes and historic sites were being addressed in the Cold Lake Sub-Regional Integrated Resource Plan, which was presented in draft form at an open house in Elk Point.

1996

Elk Point Ag Society's second annual Bull Chutin' Classic was a huge success with a packed crowd enjoying the action provided by 30 top bullriders and awesome stock provided by Les Trach Rodeo Company and Muriel Lake Rodeo Stock. Elk Point Skating Club went 'Around the World in 90 Minutes' at their annual ice carnival, with numbers representing Canada, Russia, Africa, USA, Ireland, Spain, Hawaii, Antarctica, Austria, Brazil, Germany, Italy and the Rain Forest.

and Linda Nichols swept up second place at the St. Paul Farmerettes' Bonspiel. Town council hoped that readers would recycle that issue and other newspapers, flyers, cardboard, milk jugs and cartons, because too much material that could be recycled at the local bottle depot was ending up in the landfill.

Close to a foot of wet snow didn't keep 18 hardy Royal Purple members from Elk Point, Vermilion and Myrnam from taking part in the 55th year of District 8 annual meetings.

The biggest-ever awards banquet brought he minor hockey season to an end, with Elk Point Minor Hockey president Edie Lowry presenting the Alex Kurash Memorial Award to most deserving pee wee player Taylor Dion Abraham.

Former teammates, players from the teams he coached and fans from throughout his years on ice took part in the first annual memorial hockey tournament honouring Jim Vinge, where his daughters Kelsey and Hayley dropped the ceremonial puck and son Brayden tended goal for the Prairie Tech team. The Riverland Adventure Challenge was back on track, despite the departure from the area of challenge organizer Sheila Thompson and her husband and the unavailability that day of several other previous volunteers.

Curling Society wraps up the season

JOANNE WARAWA

Elk Point Curling Club

The Elk Point and District Curling Society wrapped up its 2015/2016 curling season with a year-end bonspiel March 18 and 19. Twelve teams took to the ice to compete for the top spot which was won by the team skipped by Don Anderson with Jean Ockerman (Third), Owen Gibson (Second) and Dennell Anderson and Kaiden Evans-Anderson (Leads).

This season was one marked with ups and downs. We saw a welcome increase in the number of teams participating in our Wednesday night mixed league but also had our season cut short by an unfortunate breakdown with our plant. Fortunately, we had it back up and running in time to host the Annual Oilmen's

Curling Bonspiel. Without the time and effort put in by our Club's President and ice caretaker, Curtis Porcina, and some very generous donations from the County of St Paul and the Town of Elk Point, this would not have been possible. We are hoping to further grow the number of league teams for next year from our current 14 and would love to see some high school teams participating in some curling programs or even in the mixed league.

The beauty of curling is it can be enjoyed by anyone, at any age, at any skill level while being both mentally and physically challenging. It is a great social activity and easy to learn even if you have never played before. For now, we will welcome warmer weather and look forward to seeing you all on the ice in nine short months!

New partners, sponsorship format for Canada Day

VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Elk Point's Canada Day plans took another step forward last week, when the Elk Point 4-H Multi Club jumped on the bandwagon to fill a late afternoon time slot with their Achievement Day activities.

The 4-H members are planning to include a number of project displays, a soapbox derby, canine agility demonstration and the judging to determine the champion market lambs in the area on the east side of A. G. Ross Arena.

Canada Day Committee secretary-treasurer Jena Colbourne told the committee she is working on a new sponsorship format, which will give sponsors more recognition of their contribution when they sponsor or co-sponsor specific events ranging from the fireworks to stage show entertainment to activities for children and teens. There is also the option to donate smaller amounts, and Colbourne said, "We appreciate any and all donations by the public, businesses or organizations," with all those making donations of $50 or less recognized on signage and by event MCs as "Gold sponsors. There is also the opportunity to become one of the sponsors for Canada Day Idol or the Survivor challenge with a $50 donation. In kind donations, from the use of tents, spotlights or other equipment to donations of trophies and prizes, are also very welcome, she said, and may be an option for businesses affected by the economic downturn to still help out with a contribution toward the Canada Day celebration.

Some steps toward the big celebration have already been completed, Colbourne confirmed, with the federal grant application submitted, deposits paid on the bouncy houses and fireworks, and equipment booked for Loopyball in the children's area and a dunk tank, Speed Pitch and Alien Invasion booked for teens and older youngsters to enjoy. Elk Point Minor Ball has agreed to look after the youth activities, the Friends of Elk Point Municipal Library have confirmed that they will once again serve up the pancake breakfast, and the R.O.C.K. Foundation is working on the required paperwork for the beer garden.

Colbourne has also made progress with finding entertainers for the main stage, and hopes to have Elk Point's 2013 Canada Day Idol, Olivia Rose as the headliner.

Canada Day Idol has a new organizer this year in Brianne Greening, and a new location outdoors: the Canada Day stage, with the A. G. Ross Arena for backup in case of inclement weather.

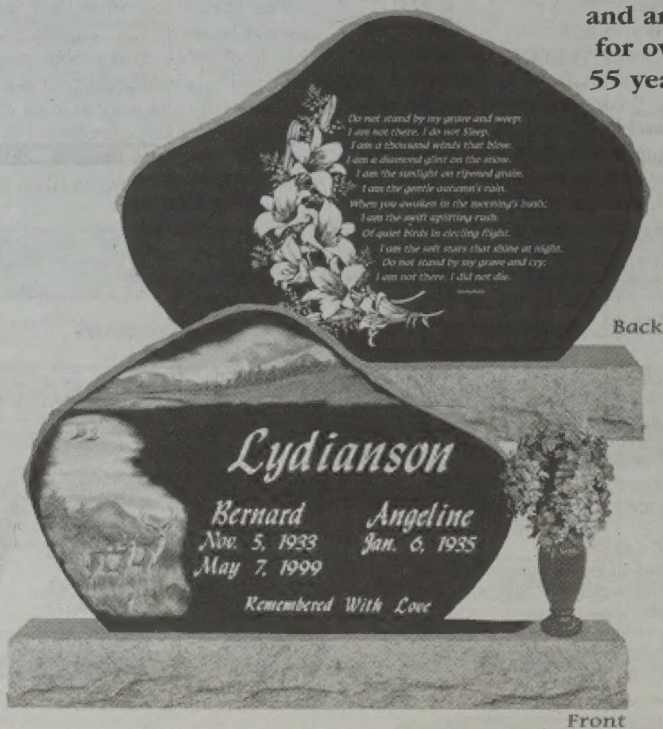

Greening is taking over the role from the competition's originator Dee Pankiw and she and Colbourne also hope contestants will have a new way of entering the competition through the Town of Elk Point website, rather than mailing in cheques. They will release further details on the entry process when this has been confirmed.
